Announcement of volunteers arrival: New weltwaerts team from Germany

Dear Dear Daniel
Dear CDC members
Dear teachers

Inga Eumann from artefact invited me to the weltwärts planning workshop last weekend. I did discuss GRACE and our aim to assist Chipunga to about 15 volunteers (all of them are appointed to work either in Malawi or Tanzania). At this assembly I met Sandra and Lea, the new weltwärts team 2015/2016 for a first time. Both agreed to pose with me for a snapshot (see below: Sandra to the left and Lea to the right).

Lea and Sandra will travel to Malawi by End of November and are in a state of great expectation with regards to their obligations at Chipunga. Of course Malawi will be a foreign, new and a very exotic environment to them.

May I ask you to give them a very warm welcome!

Both got an assignment to have a special look into our various education strategies and schemes, as:

- Pre-School Affairs
- Primary School Affairs
- Secondary School Scholarships
- Tertiary Education / Students

As our focus is on so many activities related to education this weltwärts squad shall work closely with CDC in terms of planning, budgeting, tracking, reporting, training, selecting, and supervising of learners and students. May I propose that Lea and Sandra participate in your CDC meetings on a regular basis. Assistance in writing short records of your meetings and forwarding them to us could be another activity as well as an intensification of the use of your CDC laptop.

All the best to you and I am looking very much forward to seeing you again early next year.

With best regards on behalf of the German managing committee,

Dr. Jens Diedrich
President GRACE charity
